

Clothing Bale To Be Sent to South Koreans

South Norfolk Baptists Arrange Shipment for Overseas Needy

Needy South Korean will become the recipients of a slightly delayed Christmas present in the form of 723 pounds of used clothing collected by the South Norfolk Baptist Church.

Last February the Woman's Missionary Union and the Training Union of the church collected the clothing in South Norfolk, after hearing a chaplain just back from Korea speak at the church on the plight of the half-freezing nation.

The chaplain told the congregation that even old rags that the average American would deem of no value, were worthwhile to send to the Koreans.

The bale of clothing was accordingly gathered, but was not shipped until the $70 required could be appropriated to pay the freight to the port of Pusan.

Recently the church appropriated the money to pay the shipping costs and shortly after Christmas the ship Pioneer Cove will deliver the bale to the port of Pusan, where the Rev. Rex Ray, Southern Baptist missionary, will receive and distribute the clothing to men, women and children among South Korea's needy.

The pastor of the South Norfolk Baptist Church is the Rev. Frank Hughes, Jr.

Clothes for South Korea

Virginian-Pilot Photo by Mays.

Members of the Woman's Missionary Union of the South Norfolk Baptist Church show samples of the clothing in the bale to be shipped to the Baptist Mission in Pusan, South Korea. Left to right are Mrs. C. G. Harrell, WMU president; Mrs. D. L. Dunlow, WMU circle chairman, and Mrs. R. L. Hall and Mrs. C. D. Williford, co-chairmen of the WMU community mission. With them is J. D. Tripp, educational director of the church.