

Old Dominion University college years.....1968-1971

- History and Social Science Major (Bachelor of Science in Secondary Education) Teaching Certification in Virginia and North Carolina
- Minor: Art History
- Baptist Student Union
- Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity
- Pi Kappa Phi Honorary Leadership Fraternity
- Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities: 1970, 1971
- Judicial Vice-President

OLD DOMINION UNIVERSITY

Joe had an office (Room 112) on the first floor of the Webb Student Center, during his tenure as Judicial Vice President, elected by the student body.

ODU Honor Council (Joe is second from Left)

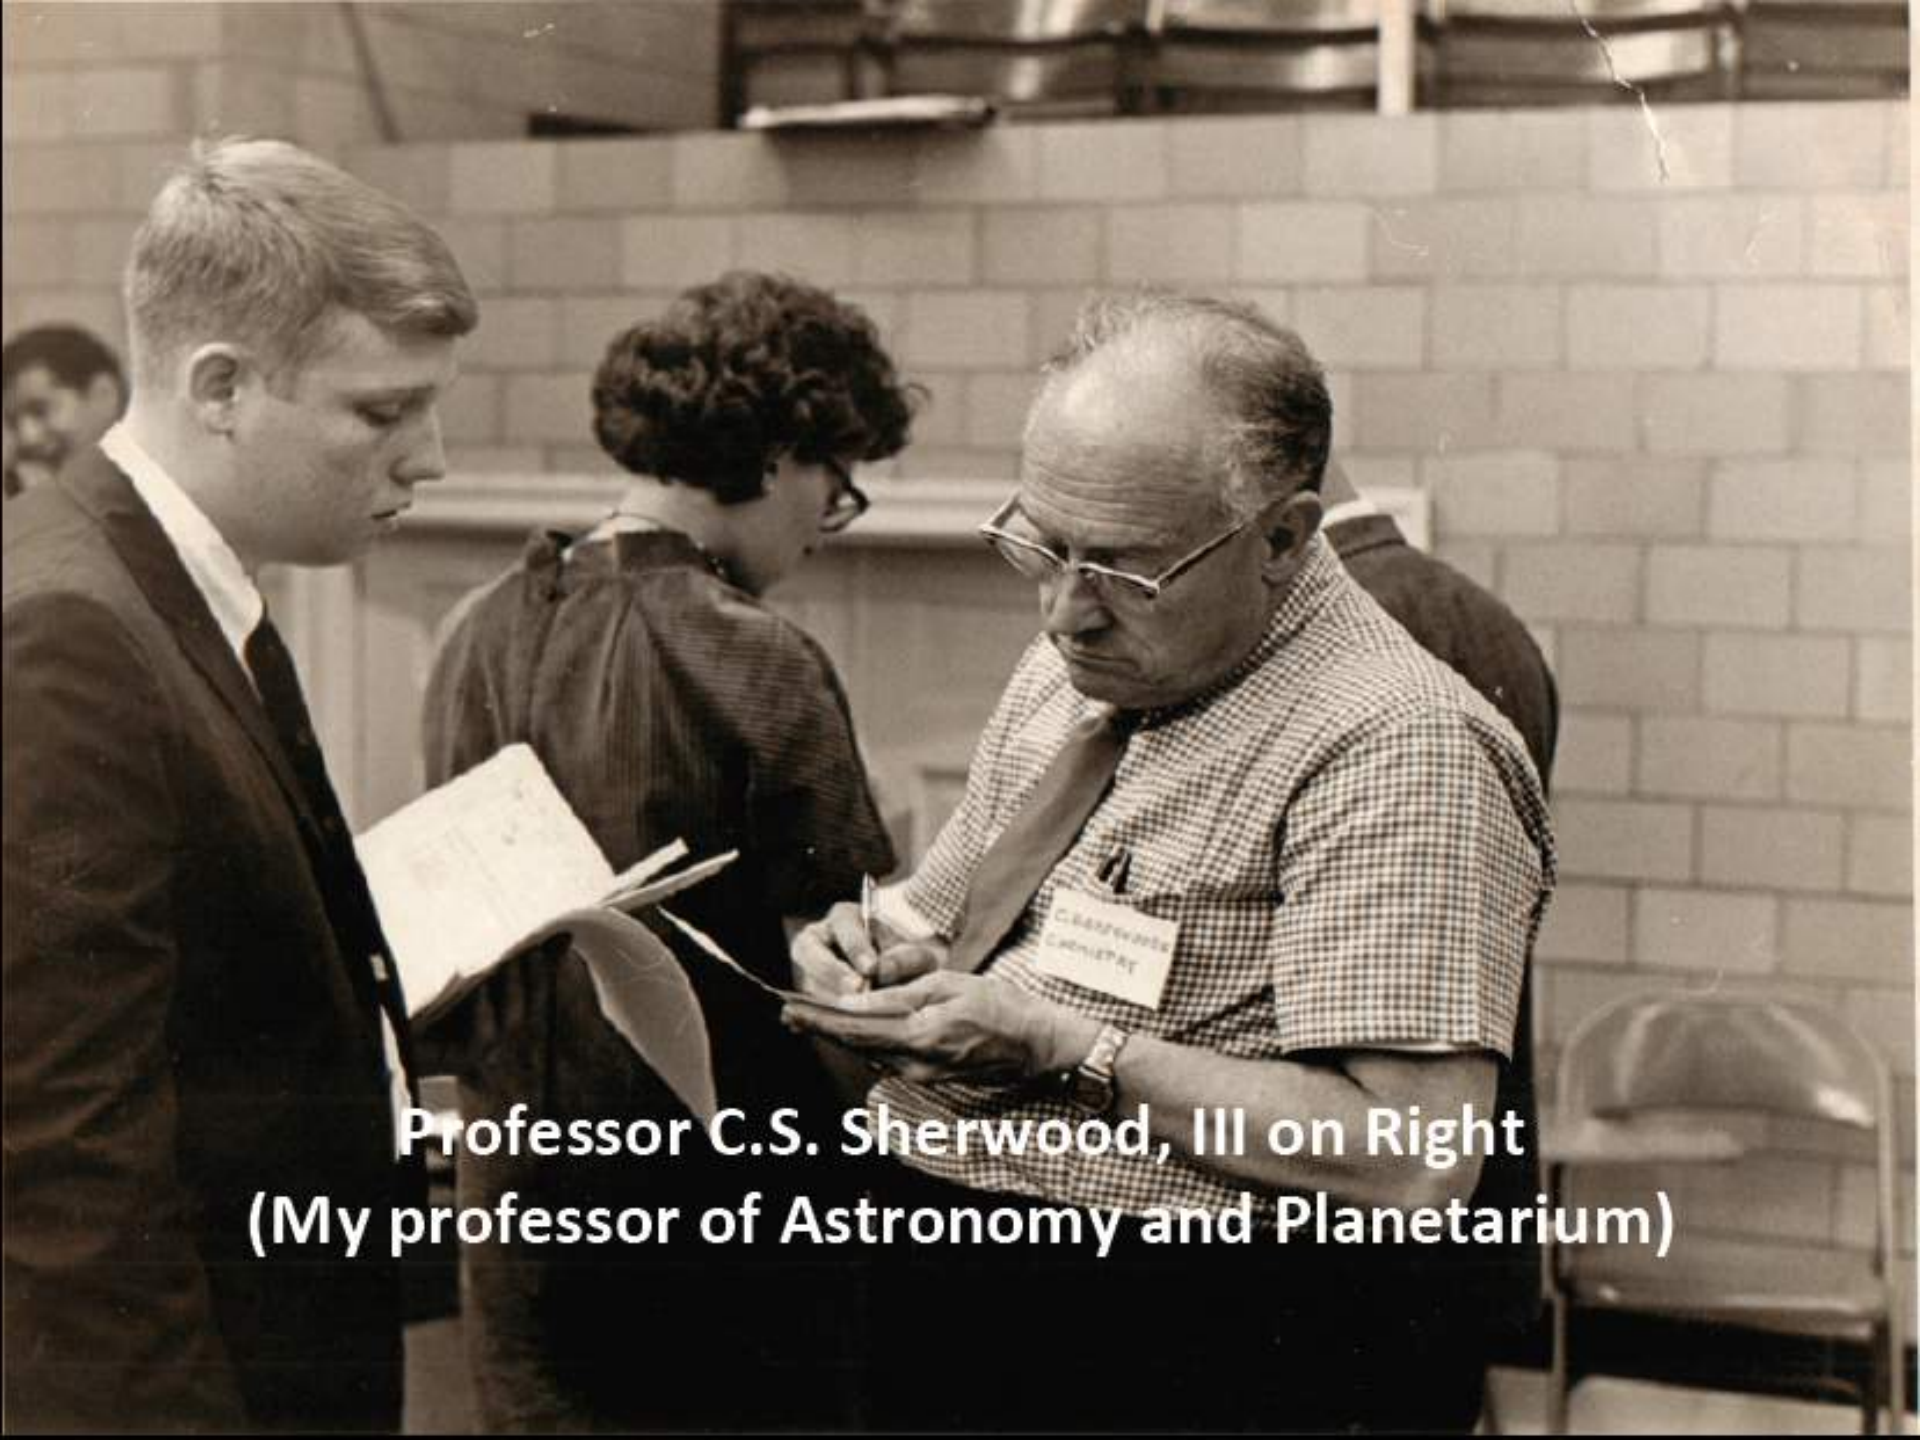

(Pictures courtesy of Mace and Crown newspaper)

ODU Honor Council

Donnie Youngblood and Joe Hughes
both members of Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity, at Old Dominion University, named to the “Who’s Who of Students of 1971.”

Professor C.S. Sherwood, III on Right
(My professor of Astronomy and Planetarium)

Astronomy Courses were first implemented by Professor C.S. Sherwood, III, utilizing the Pretlow Planetarium, adjacent to the Alfriend Chemistry Building. He was a great mentor and friend, and an outstanding professor. He was a graduate of the University of Chicago, and held a teaching appointment, during WWII instructing in “Celestial Navigation” for Naval officers. So knowledgeable of his subject, he often presented lectures to our Astronomy course, in the Pretlow Planetarium, from memory. He was a fine Christian, who was a good friend, and outstanding mentor.

C.S. Sherwood III; retired professor

PORTSMOUTH — Prof. Calder Smith Sherwood III, 65, of 111 West Road, the first ODU teacher to be honored with professor emeritus status in two departments, died Tuesday in a hospital.

Sherwood, a native of Portsmouth, was professor of physics and geophysical sciences. He was professor emeritus in the Chemistry Department and also in the Department of Physics and Geophysical Sciences.

He retired after 38 years of teaching and was honored with a dinner April 22 at Webb University Center.

Dr. Dale Lick, dean of the School of Sciences and Health Professions at ODU, said of Sherwood: "He's had a profound impact on a broad spectrum of science students, particularly (those in) chemistry and astronomy.

"He's probably the professor of more doctors and dentists than any other at the university," Dr. Lick said.

He became an instructor in 1939 when the school was the College of William and Mary's Norfolk division. He estimated he had taught about 4,000 students since then. He was a William and Mary instructor three years before joining ODU faculty. One of his special interests was in working with youth and civic groups. He worked more than 25 years with a North Carolina boys' summer camp. He also was instrumental in establishing planetarium programs in Portsmouth and Chesapeake.

He was a lifelong Portsmouth resident. He was a member of Port Norfolk Baptist Church, Seaboard Masonic Lodge 56, the Torch Club, and American Chemical society.

He was a Navy veteran of World War II.

He is survived by five cousins, Dr. Leonard L. Davis of Portsmouth, W. Wallace Face of Norfolk, Lee A. Wallace of Falls Church, Mrs. Clinton A. Walker of Virginia Beach, and Mrs. Allen M. Johnson of New Orleans.

A funeral will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. in Oak Grove Cemetery. Masonic rites will be accorded at the grave. The family will be at Loving & Gay Funeral Home, Churchland, tonight from 7 to 9. They suggest memorial donations to the C. S. Sherwood Scholarship Endowment Fund, or the Educational Foundation, ODU, Norfolk.

An early picture of C.S. Sherwood while a student at William & Mary

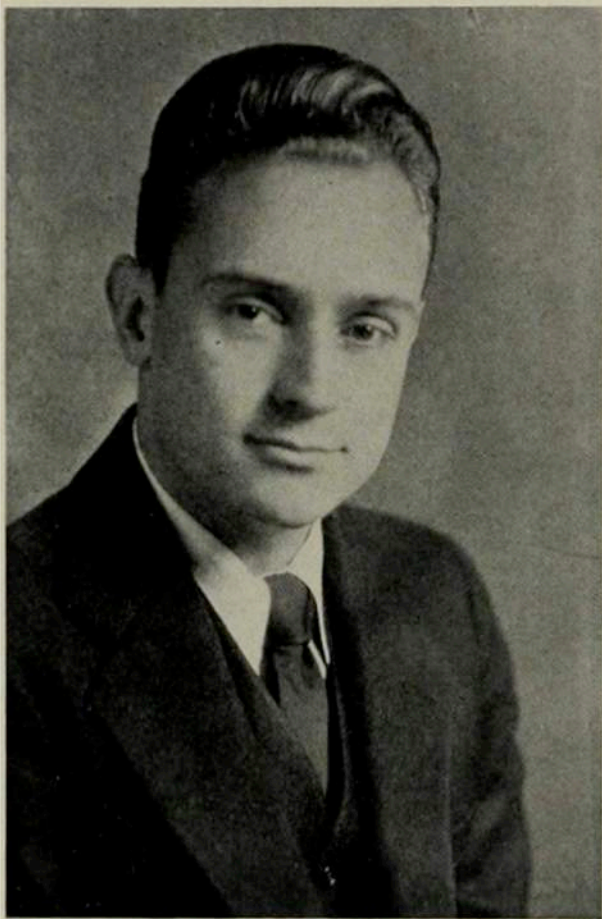

C. S. SHERWOOD III

Assistant Editor "Student"

C. S. possesses the largest vocabulary in the class. It is quite an education to be in his company. He is a good scholar, debater, and friend.

C. S. SHERWOOD III

B.S.

Portsmouth, Virginia

Sigma Nu; Theta Chi Delta,
Treasurer-President; Chi Beta
Phi, Treasurer; Phi Kappa Phi;
Phi Gamma Delta; Euclid Club,
President; Phoenix Literary Society, Treasurer-Vice-President

An early picture of C.S. Sherwood while he was at William and Mary.

WILLIAM & MARY

Early picture
of C.S.
Sherwood
while a Professor at Old Dominion
College

CALDER SMITH SHERWOOD, III
Assistant Professor of Chemistry
B. S., College of William and Mary
M. S., University of Chicago

C.S. Sherwood
C.S. Sherwood

Calder S. Sherwood, III,
Professor of Chemistry;
B.S., College of William and Mary; M.S., University of Chicago.

Professor Richard Rutyna teaching a Colonial American History class. He was one of my professors at ODU.

Professor Alf Mapp, Jr.
My Virginia History Professor

School of Education building

Dr. Franklin Ross Jones, Dean of the School of Education. His brother (Bill) went to Wake Forest College with Rev. Hughes. I worked with Bill's son at Ridgecrest.

Dr. Thomas Blossom, my professor for Latin American History.

I studied Art History with two of the Fine Arts faculty: Parker Leslie (back row, third from left) and Mrs. Evelyn Dryer (seated, right, in middle, wearing a white dress.)

Alfriend Chemistry Building at ODU.
Jim studied chemistry there, and I studied Astronomy Laboratory.

Delta Sigma Phi singing during Greek Week

Joe Hughes standing 3rd from Left

Delta Sigma Phi fraternity house in Norfolk, Virginia. It was three stories with a basement and a “widows walk” with iron railing on top. It had a coal-fed furnace which the Pledges had to keep going in the winter.

Joe Hughes stands in rear with his big brother
Donnie Youngblood on right in white shirt.

Delta Sigma Phi fraternity group photo at second house which was located off Larchmont Ave., Norfolk, VA. It was a former doctors' 3 story house on the water.

Delta Sigma Phi fraternity officers for 1971.

Standing, L to R: President, Michael Hough, Sargent at Arms, Harold M. Hall, Seated, L to R: Michael West, Robert E. Gonsoulin.