

PROPHECY 1942

Lo! what is this my eyes behold?
Coy Horton strong and bold.
Now a president is he,
Ruler of all destiny.

Next I see two charming misses,
Lorraine and Louise, sweet actresses.
To their grace and acting art,
Many men will loose their heart.

What have we here in uniform?
A baseball pitcher, sure's you're born
It's Roy Chapman, watch him throw
That ball across the plate, just so.

Two missionaries quite sincere
Are Helen Brewer and Charles, have no fear
In distant lands they will abide
And win the heathen to their side.

Two champion boxers, J. B. and Milton
They've been winners in many fights
William Lane trains them well, they say
To win the fight means better pay.

Melody floats around our ear
Tis Mary and Elsie that we hear
With radio contracts just begun
Watch out Hollywood here they come.

Olympic stars, how fast they run!
Jack Harrell and Lewis at the sound of gun
Dash down the line and win the race
No other star excels their pace.

A hostess in a large hotel
Is Edythe Gallup, she serves folks well
Her winning ways and sweetest smile
Will hold the patrons there awhile.

Explorers into distant lands,
Garland, Paul, William and Bryan take their stand
Of natives, who so willing came
To capture all the wildest game.

A tennis star is Norma Leet
At the top she'll take her stand
A second Helen Willis is she
The greatest tennis star to be.

Two surgeons who have prolonged life
For many with their skillful knife
Dallas and Nelson's names are sung with praise
Their work's well done in every phase.

Some architects who like their work
Are Jerome and Joe who do not shirk
The tallest buildings in the land
Bear witness to their skillful hands.

Now no one class would be complete
Without an artist hard to beat
Chauncey Odell wins the coveted fame
In "Who's Who" we'll find his name.

There's a red head in our class
There's never a test she doesn't pass
To Tiger Tales she gives time freely
You'll find she's the one and only Florence
Eley.

I see bright lights and gayety,
Fair maids all decked in finery
The bands come out all set to go
Gordon Commander is the gigolo.

Now here's a future all would like,
A happy carefree easy life.
To Claudia Winfield came wealth.
She married a man with failing health.

Again we come to a baseball king
Just watch Melvin Burton swing
Many's the time he's made a homer
To put the opponents into a coma.

Another in the hall of fame
Miss Gloria Whitehurst is her name
A concert she will give for all
If you attend the president's ball.

Yes the twins of high school days
Back to South Norfolk came
Doris and Donald are their names
Known for their great radio fame.

The photographer of the class you'll find
Is Calvin Harrell with the keenest mind
As his assistant, Bradford Graves
Much time for Calvin his work saves.
