

BATTLE OF SPRING HILL, TN

NOVEMBER 29, 1864

E Throughout the night, Schofield's troops silently pass within sight of the campfires of Hood's sleeping army.

A As Lowrey's Brigade moves to the Columbia Turnpike, they are surprised by Bradley's Brigade firing on their flank. Lowrey wheels his men and attacks Bradley's position.

D Bate's Division shifts to the northwest to link up with Cleburne's Division and Johnson's Division moves into position on Bate's exposed left flank.

B Granbury's Brigade continues to the Columbia Turnpike. Jackson's, Smith's and Bullock's Brigades of Bate's Division move to Columbia Turnpike just northeast of Rippavilla.

C Brown's Division and Stewart's Corps move into bivouac to the northeast of Cleburne's Division.
